

MOORISH TRAVELS

A SPANISH AND MOROCCAN FOOD SAFARI ~ HOSTED BY CHRISTINE MANFIELD
7 TO 20 OCTOBER 2020

This bespoke, one-off itinerary offers an exciting blend of Spain and Morocco - the perfect culinary pairing! Geographically Mediterranean but with a second rugged Atlantic coastline, Spain enjoys a wealth of seafood and a climate perfectly suited to olives, citrus fruits and all manner of herbs and spices. Today, the quality of 'Jamón Ibérico' - Iberian Ham - is heralded worldwide however, pork has not always featured on Spanish menus because Islamic reign over the Iberian Peninsula persisted for almost eight centuries. The influence of Moorish culture can be seen intertwined with Catholic traditions everywhere and no more so than in its cuisine. For this reason a culinary journey through Spain ties together beautifully with time spent in the spice souks and rose scented gardens of Morocco. Only when the cultures and cuisines of the two nations are combined does the full story become apparent.

Beginning in Spain you'll travel through Madrid, Seville, Granada and Ronda, taking in colourful markets, ocean fresh seafood, olive and almond groves, sultry bodegas and lively tapas bars. You'll visit the Alhambra and the Alcazar, sample the finest acorn-fed Iberian ham and drink sherry straight from the barrel. Moving to Morocco you'll land in the capital Rabat, taste the produce of a sophisticated French-inspired winery then head to Fes, known for its tanneries and ancient Jewish quarter. You'll witness the women baking in communal bread ovens, taste the best tagines and b'stillas on the planet and wander the medina sampling sweet pastries dripping with honey. Spend a night glamping in the desert, then end in Marrakech and enjoy the finest flavours of Morocco in a pioneering restaurant run by an all-female team. Along the way your host Christine Manfield will enhance your experience using her extensive knowledge as a top-level chef to interpret the flavours, smells and sights you encounter.

This enriching itinerary will take you on a journey to the 'culinary cradle' of Europe, through Islamic and Catholic history to arrive at the gastronomic delight of modern day Spain and Morocco.

N.B. A 6 night pre-tour extension to Portugal has been designed to combine with this journey.
